

Education Abroad in PHILOSOPHY

Benefits of International Experience

International education can be an integral part of your UVA education. It will prepare you to embrace the opportunities and challenges of our global community. The courses you will take abroad may be similar to what you would take at UVA, but will provide a different cultural perspective. You may also find courses abroad that are unavailable at UVA.

Students return from their programs abroad with international competence, a deeper knowledge and understanding of various cultures, greater language proficiency and a more global perspective.

Steps to go abroad

- Get a passport
- Complete the online Education Abroad Workshop
- Talk with your department about timing and course requirements
- Meet with an ISO education abroad advisor and explore opportunities
- Learn about funding resources (financial aid, scholarships)
- Research programs and apply online
- Participate in cross-cultural seminars (CORE)

Academic and Timing Considerations

Philosophy majors may count up to six transfer credits in philosophy courses towards the major, but transfer credits cannot be used to satisfy any of the major requirements listed on the department web page. Students must consult the Director of Undergraduate Programs for approval prior to study abroad.

Planning ahead is key to finding a program that meets your academic and personal goals. We encourage you to start planning for your international experience as early as first year, and recommend that you meet with your academic advisor as well as an education abroad advisor.
